There's a pret - ty lit - tle maid - en in the cot - tige oer the way, Her
 I have watch'd her at the twi - light in the gar - den where she stray'd, Her Once we met, and oh, that meeting 'round my heart is twin - ing yet, I form be-side the win-dow oft I see,      When I turn my footsteps homeward from the voice with gentle mu-sic fill'd the air,      As she sat be-neath the branches in the gave to her a rose im-pearl'd with dew,      'Twas a love-ly sum-mer evening, and I la-bors of the day,      Her smile is like a bes-con light to me.

drooping wil-lows shade,      I wish'd that I could sit be-side her there.
nev-er shall for-get      The pur-est, brightest hour I ev-er knew.

CHORUS.

SOPR. Come, oh come, my dar-ling one with me,      My song of love from morn'till night shall
